Gentlemen:

The ZMT Transmitter has no acceptable space on the outside of the case to affix the FCC or any other registration information. The battery door is removable and as such is not an appropriate location for such information. We have chosen to put the FCC information under the battery door due to its large size and permanent structure. The label will be on the packaging and the user's manual. Please accept this explanation as the solution for locating the FCC information on the ZMT Transmitter.

Sincerely,

Glenn Sanders
President
