

Additional label displayed on the device:

Operating this device requires specific training in order to meet the FCC occupational RF Exposure requirements. This are requirements for users that use this device professionally. Please read the SAFETY TRAINING INFORMATION section as provided in the User Manual of this device.