The guidelines use a unit of measurement known as the Specific Absorption Rate, or SAR. The SAR limit for wireless devices is 2.0 W/kg and the highest SAR value for this device when tested complied with this limit.

Regulatory Information

The following approvals and notices apply in specific regions as noted.

FCC Statement

In the United States and Canada, the SAR limit for mobile devices used by the public is 1.6watts/kg (W/kg) averaged over 1 gram of tissue for the body or head (4.0 W/kg averaged over 10 grams of tissue for the extremities - hands, wrists, ankles and feet). The standard incorporates a substantial margin of safety to give additional protection for the public and to account for any variations in measurements.

SAR compliance has been established in typical laptop computer(s) with USB slot, and product could be used with typical laptop computer. Other application like handheld PC or co-transmitting with other high power transmitter(s) within 20cm have not been verified and may not comply with relevant RF exposure rules. Please consult manufacture(s) before such use.
