Model difference

This letter is a declaration on the differences between model GS320 & GS375. Both models share the same PCB, electronic hardware, enclosures and power cable. The enclosure machining is the same.

The differences are in the user interface, the LEDs and the lexan. The GS320 is a wind speed indicator and the GS375 is an Anti-Two-Block indicator. The software is slightly different since the user interface is not the same, but the RF protocol is identical.
