

Marketed as a Package

Lantronix will market the WiPort module as everything that is in the shield where the label is located. The module will include the 802.11b transmitter circuit board and the controller board inside the shield and will only be marketed as a package. They will package it together with the controller board all enclosed in the shield?

Rick Candelas
Aegis Labs, Inc.
Office 949.459.7886