Hannah,

I received a call from Harry regarding the email below that was sent earlier. Based on the size of the device, placing of the 2 part statement in the users manual should be sufficient. I was under the impression that the device was larger.

Additionally, we expect to receive the remaining information for review (manual) shortly.

Thank You,

Tim

Hannah,

Review of the FCC Label

FCC ID now looks good.....

The 2 part statement referenced in our last set of comments, item #5 does not appear on the label. Note that if the device is larger than the palm of your hand, this is expected to be on the label. If the device is smaller than the palm of your hand, then the statements may be placed in the manual.

It is also assumed that the DoC information previously discussed will be placed in the manual/box since this information was not present.

Please let us know when you expect to address the last remaining items 5-7?

Thank You,

Tim
