To whom it may concern,

RDT are applying for certification on the ROSTEMPUSIC device with FCC ID: ROSTEMPUSIC-1.

The certification will cover all transmitters within the host device; therefore the device has just one FCC ID.

Test reports have been provided in support of this application including measurements of the whole device and individual reports for the respective radio parts (GSM, WiFi and Bluetooth®).

The individual radio parts were previously certified via the FCC modular approvals route and the same test reports are used in support of this application; therefore the test reports reference FCC IDs that are not detailed in, or relevant to, this filing.

For this reason, the FCC IDs details in the radio module test reports are not relevant to this application. All measurements in this application relate to the certification of ROSTEMPUSIC-1.

Respectfully
