

Subject: Response to ATCB questions for Grant Application FCC ID: RS2R101B dated August 23, 2006.

- 1) Page 4 of the users manual still appears to mention a "built in" FM Transmitter. Note there is not any mention of external accessories necessary to make this option work. "Built in" tends to imply the antenna is internal to the device. Please review/explain and/or correct as necessary.

XM Answer: This language is based on a marketing decision regarding the best method for describing the FM modulator feature. The "built in" portion is limited to the FM modulator circuitry and does not include any radiating element.
