

Working principle

ATS302T is a CMOS LSP chip on RF transmitter it's designed for remote control toys.

ATS302T turns off automatically. It works when function input pin connect Ground, then SO and SC will transmit code by continually RF type (with carrier) and IR type (without carrier) respectively, whereas it will enter wait mode when a complete code has been transmitted and the button opens.