

1. The device is a black, rectangular, portable device with a textured top surface. It is placed on a light blue surface next to a ruler for scale. A red circle highlights a small, rectangular port on the side of the device, located above the yellow Ethernet port. The device has two antennas and a power jack on the side.

