Dear Mr. Yang,

Please address following issues.

Q#1: The operational description provided is a product specification which doesn't acceptable. I have attached some downloaded from FCC website for your reference. Please have a check and provide an updated one.
Q#2: Please double check if the RFID schematics has been included in the current schematics file. If it's there, please advise which page it is, or then please provide.
Q#3: Please point out the RFID module and its antenna from the internal photos.
Q#4: Page 71 of user manual, page 10 of schematics and test report have mentioned that it's an option to equip with a WLAN module. Please clarify whether this device has equipped with the WLAN module firstly. And please be noted that after grant, if additional WLAN module is added, a new FCC ID is required.
Q#5: As indicated in the EUT photos, two ferrite cores are attached onto the power cable, please confirm that these will be a part of package when placing to the market.

Best Regards,

Lucy
