

A black rectangular electronic device, possibly a power supply or a small computer component, is shown against a light gray background. The device has a textured surface with horizontal ridges. On the left side, there is a black threaded connector. At the bottom, there are two silver cylindrical connectors. A white rectangular label with a red border is affixed to the front face, containing the text "LABEL LOCATION" in red capital letters.

LABEL
LOCATION