

December 2, 2009

REF: EMC27595-FCC247

To whom it may concern:

The ZigBee to RS485 Bridge, ZRB, is physically too small to support a label indicating the appropriate language as called out by the FCC. In order to meet this label requirement the language is included in the Users Manual, ZigBee to RS485 Bridge: document number 80027. It can be found in section 5 Certifications, under Note 3. This note is included herein for reference.

NOTE 3: This device complies with part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Henry Martin".

Henry Martin
Engineering Director
Autani Corporation