

The principles of MCL/SMM-T Motor Part

The circuitry of the remote control transmitter consists of the complete signal group (including address code, data code and synchronization code) from ABE153 coding integration circuit, and after the 433MHz full amplitude modulation, it can send out amplified and filtered waves.