

RF REMOTE CONTROL OPERATION DESCRIPTION

This is a short distance RF remote control with 315MHz, there are two buttons on it .The different command signal are transmitted when pressing the different buttons, at the same time the receiver will operating.

The remote control powered by three 1.5V battery, its standby current is less than 10uA, and operating current is less than 20uA when in operation.

When operating remote control, remote distance become short obviously, its time to change used battery with new one. Open the cover of remote control, replace the used battery with the same type battery.