FCC ID no. XYN2738 for remote control

Dear Sirs,

Our customer has decided to not put the FCC ID on the outside of the device. It will be placed inside the battery compartment in accordance to the FCC requirements. Please see our explanation below:

As an option to placing the FCC label on the exterior of the device, the FCC label may be placed in a user accessible area if the following conditions are met:

- The device is handheld (notebook computers are considered as handheld);
The device is handheld.
- The FCC identifier is visible at the time of purchase. Marketing the device without the battery installed when the label is in the battery compartment is acceptable. The FCC ID on the box, or additional documentation directing the user where to find the FCC label, also satisfies this requirement;
The FCC ID, IC certification number and model number are inside the battery compartment and the battery is not installed when the device is marketed. Additionally, the user manual directs the user where to find the FCC ID, IC certification number and model number within the battery compartment.
- The user accessible area must not require any special tools for access, and the FCC label must not be placed on a removable part;
The battery compartment does not require special tools. The FCC ID, IC certification number and model number are not on a removable part.
- The FCC ID, Model Number, or FCC logo must be on the label and must meet all general labelling requirements or policies that apply for Certification, Verification or DoC.
The FCC ID, IC certification number and model number do meet the applicable labelling requirements.
