

Professional installation justification

Date: March 15th, 2011

Subject: Installation of Sapphire Eye unit, FCC ID: YLF-ABG-EYE-APU2

Sold only to enterprise and dealers

Sapphire product is not available for sale to general public. It is sold and delivered only either directly by 7signal or by 7signal partners/dealers that sell product only to commercial and institutional entities, like enterprises and hospitals.

Eye unit requires a professional installation

Eye units are installed by trained employees only

- Installation is controlled
- Installation is done by licensed professionals
- Installation requires special training
 - Eye unit alone does not alone operate as a device in the network
 - Eye units must be controlled by 7signal Carat software that is located on a Linux server in the network.
 - Server installation requires extensive access to network resources and expertise beyond average individual network user

Application

7signal Sapphire product, including Eye hardware unit is meant only for Enterprise and institutional use. Product complements Enterprise grade WLAN network installations by adding quality assurance capabilities to them.

Sincerely,
