

The label will be located on the back side of the product as shown in the picture above. The label is attached to the device with a permanent adhesive.