To Whom It May Concern:

Rationale for request for confidentiality:

Husqvarna AB, Construction Division has invested considerable time and materials in research and development to produce the referenced product. It shall not be sold separately, nor licensed for use to any other host manufacturer, thus having no necessity to any third party to have access to such information. The documentation in this application is not and will not be made publicly available. The referenced product and its installations are not designed to be accessed nor serviced by end-users as they are contained within the housings of our equipment, permanently affixed to other control circuitry when incorporated into a host product. Only Husqvarna service centers within the Husqvarna Group, will be allowed to service equipment where this referenced product is installed.
