Hi, Chris,

Have a nice day~

1. Confirm from our client that: when the module is used to their product, there is no FM function and it has already been clarified in the Operation Description.
2. as for the CE/FCC SAR report, SRTC have had the test done and report again, please refer to the attachment.
3. The FCC/CE test report: client required to delete the factory information, and it's been updated already, see attachment also.

Best regards,

Wendy Li

Wendy, I have received from Stone Peng the Operational Description and Schematics of the NC03 which both show that this module has FM Transmitter function (76-108 MHz). Does the Tablet device support the FM Tx function?

Best regards,

Chris Harvey

Wendy, I also received the BOM and Block Diagrams, but not schematics. I have also received them in formats not acceptable by FCC (BOM is a text file and Block Diagrams are in PPT format), so with your OK, I will PDF these files into the acceptable file format (no other changes).

Am I still expecting the Schematic Diagrams?

Dear Chris and Lucy,

Flower day~

May I know if you are reviewer for this project of FCC and CE ?

Because the client want to inform their module manufacturer of e-mailing materials to you.
