Foreign Carrier Affiliation Notification

Puerto Rico Telephone Company, Inc. (“PRTC”) hereby submits this foreign carrier affiliation notification regarding foreign carrier affiliates in Colombia, Mexico, the Netherlands, Belgium and Germany. Specifically, through its ownership by América Móvil, PRTC is now affiliated with Infracel, S.A. E.S.P. (“Infracel”) in Colombia, Teléfonos de México, S.A.B. de C.V. (“Teléfonos”) in Mexico, and KPN VN (“KPN”) in the Netherlands, Belgium and Germany.

Response to Question 10

PRTC became affiliated with Infracel, Teléfonos, and KPN more than thirty days prior to the filing of this foreign carrier affiliation notification, but the notification was not filed previously due to administrative oversight. To the extent necessary, PRTC seeks a waiver of Section 63.11(c) of the Commission’s rules, 47 C.F.R. § 63.11(c).

Response to Question 12

PRTC’s affiliate Infracel is authorized to provide international long distance services in Colombia, a WTO Member country. Infracel lacks market power in Colombia and qualifies for a presumption of non-dominance under Section 63.10(a)(3) of the Commission’s rules, 47 C.F.R. § 63.10(a)(3). The company does not control bottleneck facilities and has market shares under 50 percent in all relevant markets on the foreign end of the U.S.–Colombia route, including the international transport and local access markets. Infracel is not listed on the Commission’s List of Foreign Telecommunications Carriers that Are Presumed to Possess Market Power in Foreign Telecommunications Markets.<sup>1</sup>

PRTC’s affiliate Teléfonos is authorized to provide basic fixed-line telephone services, long distance services, and Internet access services, and also provides interconnection services to other carriers in Mexico, a WTO Member country. PRTC is already considered dominant with respect to the U.S.-Mexico route<sup>2</sup> and has already agreed to accept and abide by reporting requirements in Section 63.10 of the Rules.<sup>3</sup>

PRTC’s affiliate KPN is authorized to provide retail voice, Internet, and data services in the Netherlands and mobile telecommunications services in Germany, the Netherlands and Belgium.

KPN is the incumbent operator and market leader in the Netherlands. The Netherlands is a WTO Member country, and PRTC agrees to be classified as a dominant carrier on the U.S.-Netherlands route for provision of its international telecommunications services.

KPN provides only mobile services in Germany and Belgium, which are also WTO member countries. KPN lacks market power in Germany and Belgium and qualifies for a presumption of non-dominance under Section 63.10(a)(3) of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. § 63.10(a)(3). The company does not control bottleneck facilities and has market shares under 50 percent in all relevant markets on the foreign end of the U.S.-Germany and U.S.-Belgium routes, including the international transport and local access markets. In addition, the Commission has determined that mobile wireless service providers lack sufficient market power to affect competition adversely in the U.S. market.<sup>4</sup>

Response to Question 16

PRTC requests non-dominant treatment on the U.S.-Colombia, U.S.-Belgium, and U.S.-Germany routes. PRTC does not request non-dominant treatment on the U.S.-Mexico or U.S.-Netherlands routes and will accept and abide by reporting requirements in Section 63.10 of the Rules. See Response to Question 12 above.

Response to Question 17

As specified in response to Question 12 above, Infracel is a telecommunications carrier providing long distance services in Colombia, and Teléfonos is authorized to provide basic fixed-line telephone services and Internet access services, and also provides interconnection services to other carriers in Mexico. KPN is authorized to provide retail voice, Internet, data and mobile services in the Netherlands and mobile telecommunications services in Belgium and Germany.
