FOREIGN OWNERSHIP

Verizon Wireless is a partnership ultimately owned indirectly by Verizon Communications, Inc. (“Verizon”) and Vodafone Group Plc (“Vodafone”). Verizon, a Delaware Corporation, owns 55% of the partnership; Vodafone, a company organized under the laws of the United Kingdom, owns 45%. Control of the partnership is vested in a Board of Representatives, controlled by Verizon. Thus, Verizon is the majority owner and possesses sole affirmative control of Verizon Wireless.

In conjunction with the creation of the partnership, Verizon and Vodafone sought Commission approval, pursuant to Section 310(b)(4) of the Communications Act, 47 U.S.C. § 310(b)(4), for Vodafone to indirectly hold up to 65.1 percent of Verizon Wireless. The Commission granted the parties’ request, determining that “the public interest would be served by allowing the proposed indirect foreign ownership,” consistent with the Commission’s Foreign Participation Order. In re Applications of Vodafone AirTouch Plc and Bell Atlantic Corporation, For Consent to Transfer of Control or Assignment of Licenses and Authorizations, Memorandum Opinion and Order, DA 00-721, ¶¶ 17, 19 (rel. March 30, 2000) (citing 12 FCC Rcd. 23891, 23941 (1997)).⁵ The Commission stated further that its ruling “allows [Verizon Wireless] to be indirectly owned by Vodafone in an amount up to 65.1 percent” and that Verizon Wireless “would need additional Commission authority under section 310 (b)(4) before Vodafone could increase its investment above authorized levels . . . [or] before any other foreign entity or entities [other than ownership from the U.S. and U.K.] acquire, in the aggregate, a greater-than-25 percent indirect interest in [Verizon Wireless].” Id. ¶ 19, n. 34. Prior to the Commission’s grant of Vodafone’s indirect ownership interest in Verizon Wireless, Vodafone itself received authorization to hold up to a 100 percent indirect ownership interest in U.S. common carrier radio licensees. See In re. AirTouch Communications, Inc., Transferor, and Vodafone Group, Plc., Transferee, For Consent to the Transfer of Control of Licenses and Authorizations, Memorandum Opinion and Order, 14 FCC Rcd. 9430, ¶ 9 (Wireless Telecom. Bur. 1999); Public Notice, Report No. TEL-00174, DA 99-3033 (Int’l Bur. Rel. Dec. 30 1999).

Vodafone holds only a 45 percent indirect ownership interest in Verizon Wireless, well below the Commission-authorized level of 65.1 percent. Moreover, no other foreign company outside the Vodafone chain of ownership holds any interests in Verizon Wireless.⁶

⁵ The Commission’s approval covered Verizon Wireless’s authorizations for commercial mobile radio service.

⁶ There are no foreign companies in the chain of ownership between Verizon and Verizon Wireless.
