FCC FORM

including common carriers and/or private entities on an Indefeasible Right of User ("IRU") and/or leased basis. Based on its review of the market for international services, Global International Network Inc. believes that sufficient demand exists for additional international private line offerings to the international points it proposes to serve to justify its entering into that business.

Global International Network Inc. believes that there is substantial potential for continued growth in the international private line, as well as the switched voice and data markets,¹ and that this expansion will be accelerated by additional competition by new entrants. Moreover, the Commission has determined that increased competition in the international market is in the public interest and, as a result, has routinely authorized new entrants upon making such findings.² The Commission has also found that increased competition through the resale of international switched voice service is also in the public interest.³

International private line services to overseas points are currently offered by a large number of other facilities-based and resale carriers. Existing international facilities and services are inadequate insofar as additional entry of international resale carriers will further stimulate demand and encourage more efficient service at lower cost. Absent a grant of the instant application, international telecommunications users will not be able to benefit from the increased service options and competitive prices which will be offered by Global International Network Inc. Global International Network Inc. will also be able to offer one-stop domestic and international shopping to its customers.

³ See, e.g., Argo Communications International, Inc., 1 FCC Rcd 578 (1986) and TDX Systems, Inc., FCC File No. I-T-C-86-108, Mimeo No. 6609, released Sept. 2, 1986.

As stated above, Global International Network Inc. proposes to obtain the requisite capacity by leasing international private lines and/or purchasing IRU's from private and/or common carriers to provide quality international telecommunications services between the United States and international points. Such arrangements will be based on individual contract negotiations or tariffs as applicable to the entities from which the facilities will be obtained. GLOBAL INTERNATIONAL NETWORK INC. would compete with other carriers that already provide similar international telecommunications services to ~~overseas points.~~

GLOBAL INTERNATIONAL NETWORK INC. believes that the added competition its entry would bring to the market will benefit the consumers of telecommunications services between the United States and international points. These benefits include competitive pricing and the increased availability of a variety of service options. The grant of this authorization will therefore further the public interest.
