Re: Pacific Wireless Technologies, Inc.; File No. ITC-214-20010507-00323
Notice of Discontinuance of International Telecommunications Services and Surrender of International Section 214 Authorization

Dear Ms. Salas:

Pacific Wireless Technologies, Inc. ("Pacific"), by its attorneys and pursuant to the provisions of section 63.19 of the rules and regulations of the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC" or "Commission"), 47 C.F.R. § 63.19 (2000), hereby informs the Commission that it has discontinued international telecommunications services.

As the Commission is aware, Pacific sold its California-based digital wireless telephony system to Nextel Communications, Inc. ("Nextel").¹ That transaction closed on December 21, 2001, with the result that Nextel commenced providing international telecommunications services to Pacific's customers as of closing. Nextel is already authorized to provide international telecommunications services under Section 214 of the Communications Act. Further, to the best of Pacific's knowledge, no customers experienced a disruption or diminution in their services during the transition. Thus, based on the foregoing, Pacific does not believe that a “discontinuance, reduction, or impairment” of international services occurred.² However, in an abundance of caution, Pacific submits this notice.³

As a result of its transaction with Nextel, Pacific no longer owns a telecommunications system that is capable of providing international telecommunications services. Accordingly, by this letter, Pacific also surrenders its International Section 214 Authorization.

We trust that the foregoing is useful and satisfies Pacific’s obligations with respect to its former offering of international telecommunications services. If you require any additional information, please contact the undersigned.

Sincerely,

Russ Taylor

³ Consistent with the general intent of FCC rule section 63.19, Pacific also took steps to keep its customers informed of the transition well in advance of its closing date with Nextel. For example, Pacific initially notified its customers of the transaction on July 23, 2001, and updated its customers with the expected closing date on November 21, 2001. Copies of these notifications are enclosed herewith at Exhibit A.

Dear Pacific Wireless Customer:

Pacific Wireless Technologies, Inc. (PWT) has spent the last 18 months developing a comprehensive digital wireless network in central and northern California. Thursday, July 19, PWT announced that an agreement has been reached with Nextel Communications to purchase the assets of PWT. It is anticipated that the purchase will close late this fall.

All service plans will continue to be offered through the term of your agreement, even if the term extends beyond the date of closing. All plans are subject to the PWT Subscriber Agreement terms and conditions. Should your plan expire prior to closing of the Nextel purchase, an extension of your current plan or an alternative plan will be offered by PWT.

PWT will continue to operate and maintain the digital network up to the date of closing, providing customer service and warranty support. PWT and Nextel will work together to support the successful transition of customers at closing.

We will assist in every way possible to provide seamless communications service during this process and encourage you to call us if you have questions, service issues or accessory needs.

Sincerely,
