Answer to Question 12:

DOCOMO USA has no interlocking directorates with a foreign carrier.

Answer to Question 13:

Pursuant to a License Assignment Agreement dated February 25, 2011 between DOCOMO PACIFIC and DOCOMO USA, DOCOMO PACIFIC assigned its international Section 214 authorization (File No. ITC-214-20000507-00304) to DOCOMO USA. This authorization allows DOCOMO USA to provide telecommunications services between the United States and foreign points on a facilities and resale basis. Because DOCOMO PACIFIC and DOCOMO USA are both wholly-owned indirect subsidiaries of NTT, the assignment did not result in a change in ultimate control of the authorization and thus qualifies for pro forma processing by the Commission.

DOCOMO PACIFIC remains authorized to provide international telecommunications services pursuant to two other Section 214 authorizations that were not subject to the License Assignment Agreement.⁴

As noted above, DOCOMO USA is a wholly-owned indirect subsidiary of NTT, which is the holding company of the NTT group of companies that together form Japan's largest telecommunications company. Due to its affiliation with NTT, DOCOMO USA is considered dominant on the U.S.-Japan route pursuant to Section 63.10 of the Commission's rules and thus subject to certain international dominant safeguards.⁵ Those safeguards include the requirement that a carrier classified as dominant on a U.S.-international route file quarterly reports that: (1) summarize the provisioning and maintenance of all basic network facilities and services procured from its foreign carrier affiliate; and (2) set forth the number and status of any international circuits on the applicable U.S.-international route. In this case, DOCOMO USA intends to provide international services on a resale basis only, and does not intend to procure any provisioning and maintenance of basic network facilities and services from NTT. Accordingly, such quarterly reports are not applicable to DOCOMO USA at this time. If DOCOMO USA later decides to provide facilities-based international services and/or procure provisioning and maintenance from NTT, it will file the appropriate quarterly reports at that time.

⁴ DOCOMO PACIFIC continues to hold facilities and resale-based international Section 214 authority under File Nos. ITC-214-20040517-00201 and ITC-214-19961120-00583.
