1. Description of the Pro Forma Transfer of Control

Cable & Wireless Global Network Limited (Ireland) (“C&W Ireland”) holds a Section 214 Certificate issued by the FCC. (See ITC-214-20040713-00267). C&W Ireland is ultimately wholly-owned and controlled, through a series of intermediary companies, by Cable & Wireless Worldwide plc (“CWW”). On March 31, 2011, CWW effectuated an internal reorganization that eliminated¹ Cable & Wireless Global Holding Limited (England) which was in the corporate chain between C&W Ireland and CWW. Attached hereto are the before and after group corporate structures of CWW which illustrates the pro forma change. Under the FCC’s rules, the reorganization is a pro forma transfer of control since the ultimate ownership by CWW of C&W Ireland did not change. C&W Ireland is submitting this pro forma transfer of control application in light of the corporate changes described herein.

¹ Note that Cable & Wireless Global Holding Limited will not be liquidated or struck off rather the shareholding in the Global Network Limited sub-group will transfer from the ownership of Cable & Wireless Global Holding Limited to The Eastern Leasing Company Limited thereby becoming a sister subsidiary of CWGH, both having The Eastern Leasing Company Limited as its holding company.
