File Nos. 159-SAT-Amend-96; 11-SAT-LA-95;
10-SAT-AMEND-95; CSS-91-013 and 17-DSS-P-91(48)

Dear Mr. Caton:

On behalf of Constellation Communications, Inc. ("Constellation"), enclosed is an updated Licensee Qualification Report ("Form 430") to be associated with the above-captioned application. This updated Form 430 reflects recent changes in the Board of Directors and Officers of Constellation. Of particular note, Dr. Malcolm R. Currie, former Chairman and CEO of Hughes Aircraft Company has joined Constellation's Board of Directors and will serve as its Chairman. Dr. Currie brings years of experience in the satellite industry to Constellation. With the addition of Dr. Currie, the recent space segment agreement with MATRA, ground segment agreement with Raytheon-E-Systems and existing strategic partners in Brazil and Indonesia, Constellation is now proceeding to implement its system. The seventy-five plus individuals now working on the Constellation system are looking forward to the implementation of the satellite system and the provision of service to the public.

The attached updated Form 430 is accompanied by a press release detailing Dr. Currie's background.

Mr. William F. Caton

Malcolm R. Currie Joins Constellation Communications, Inc. As Chairman Of The Board

RESTON, Va., 18 June 1997...Constellation Communications, Inc. (CCI) announced today that Malcolm R. Currie, former Chairman and CEO of Hughes Aircraft Company, has been elected to CCI's Board of Directors, and will serve as its Chairman.

CCI is developing a Low Earth Orbit (LEO) satellite system to provide affordable voice, data and other communications services to mobile and fixed-site users throughout the world. The system is scheduled to be implemented and operational in the year 2000. CCI's major shareholders include Bell Atlantic, SpaceVest and Raytheon E-Systems.

Dr. Currie's role as Chairman of the Board will be to work closely with CCI management to oversee the system development, help open new markets, and foster new strategic relationships for the company.

"I am excited about CCI's prospects for success," said Dr. Currie. "CCI is a new entrant in international telecommunications and will enhance the U.S. competitive position. Its system concept is inherently low cost and its phased implementation for telephony solutions in high demand developing markets is one of the best business applications of LEO satellite technology I have seen."

Dr. Currie served as Chairman and CEO of Hughes Aircraft Company from 1988 to 1992. His current directorships also include Unocal Corporation, Investment Company of America, and LSI Logic Corporation. Dr. Currie is past President of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and is Chairman of the Board of Trustees at the University of Southern California. His distinguished career also includes service as Undersecretary of Defense for Research and Engineering, and the receipt of numerous honors and awards, including the Defense Department Distinguished Public Service Medal, the NASA Distinguished Service Medal, the Goddard Astronautics Award, and the French Legion of Honor. He received both his BA in Physics and his PhD in Engineering Physics from the University of California at Berkeley.

"Dr. Currie's joining CCI as Chairman represents a milestone in the company's development" said founder and past Chairman of the Board, Bruce D. Kraselsky. "Having charted CCI's path as an entrepreneurial venture, I am honored to hand the baton to Dr. Currie, who brings the leadership and experience necessary to transform CCI into a major player in the industry."
