What are you people thinking?? You are considering allowing Lightsquared to use a frequency so close to the GPS system that millions of people depend upon to get to their destinations. Also aviators, mariners and many other users of GPS will be adversely affected by this intrusion. With this July 30th cut off date for comments, one has to wonder about you cramming this down our throats before most people are even aware. I just recently purchased my first GPS unit to help with our anticipated month long vacation trip.

I'm asking you and my congressman and senators to please reconsider this invasion of our rights to a clear uninterrupted signal to our units. People have invested millions of dollars in these units.

Sincerely,
