Subject: LightSquared Technical Analysis & Advice

I think you will find my two filing submissions on 11-109 to be helpful. I have tried to keep it simple enough, yet with sufficient engineering detail. Yes, we have made new physics, making it possible. Yes, you won't like it. Yes, you better get it right, because you have absolutely no idea how irreversible and severe the consequences of getting it wrong. Better give these a decent study, because i have included data, for all our sakes:
