Re: Orbital Communications Corporation
File No. SAT-MOD-19990318-00029

Dear Ms. Salas:

On March 17, 1999 Orbital Communications Corporation ("Orbcomm") submitted the above-caption modification request seeking to increase the altitude of its equatorial orbit from 825 Km to 1000 Km.¹ On May 27, 1999 Leo One Worldwide, Inc.² ("Leo One") submitted comments on the Orbcomm modification request raising concerns over whether the increase in orbit altitude would result in a greater probability of in-orbit collisions between satellites.³ Recently, Orbcomm has provided Leo One additional analysis on this issue. Based on Leo One's assessment of this information, it no longer objects to the proposed increase in orbit altitude for Orbcomm's equatorial plan.

¹ Orbcomm subsequently submitted an amendment to this modification request seeking to lower the altitude of its equatorial plane from 1000 Km to 975 Km. (See Orbcomm Amendment, File No. SAT-AMD-20000120-0001).

² Leo One Worldwide, Inc. was formally known as Leo One USA Corporation.

³ See Comments of Leo One, May 27, 1999.

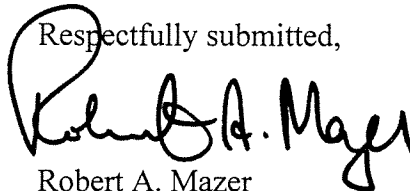

Ms. Magalie R. Salas
