*Re: The Taino-Carib Submarine Cable System Operating between Puerto Rico and St. Thomas in the U.S. Virgin Islands and the British Virgin Islands, File No.
SCL-LIC-20180702-00019*

Dear Ms. Dortch:

The Taino-Carib Consortium supplements the above-referenced Application filed on June 29, 2018 and the prior letter supplementing ownership and voting interest information filed on December 14, 2018 to include recent changes in the ownership shares and voting rights that are held by the consortium parties. These changes result from the withdrawal of Orange and Telefonos De Mexico, S.A. De C.V. from the Taino-Carib Consortium effective on March 1, 2019,¹ and the resulting reallocation of the ownership and voting interests held by those two parties among the other parties.

These changes do not affect the number or identity of the parties with 5% or greater ownership interests. They also do not result in any change of control of the cable, because no party holds or can hold more than 49% of the voting rights with respect to the submarine cable, with the remaining percentage allocated among the other parties.²

The following charts show the current ownership shares after the changes described above.

¹ See Application at 7, n.10,

² The voting right of AT&T, the largest owner with an ownership share of 51.58150%, therefore is limited to 49%. The Commission has previously found that de jure control requires possession of more than 50% of the voting rights of a licensee. See, e.g., Sinclair Broad. Grp., Order, 31 FCC Rcd. 8576, 8578, n.5 (2016); Fox Television Stations, Inc., Memorandum Opinion and Order, 10 FCC Rcd. 8452, 8472, ¶ 45 (1995) (“De jure control typically is determined by whether a shareholder owns more than 50 percent of the voting shares of a corporation.”). Additionally, none of these changes alter the de facto control of the cable, which has remained constant.

The ownership and voting interests of the Taino-Carib Cable System are as follows:
