

Response to Transferee Question #A21

As described in Exhibit E, the instant application seeks approval for the January 22, 2013, involuntary transfer of control of the Scripps Media, Inc. ("SMI") satellite authorizations from The Edward W. Scripps Trust (the "Trust") to the Trust's beneficiaries and certain other descendants of Edward W. Scripps who are shareholders of The Edward W. Scripps Company (together, the "Scripps Family Shareholders").

Grant of the application is consistent with the Commission's longstanding policy of working with probate courts to effectuate the prompt and orderly transfer of control over FCC licenses that is necessitated by such situations. While none of the Scripps Family Shareholders holds a 10% or greater interest in the Company's voting stock, each is a party to a voting agreement under which together they will control 91.9% of that stock. Accordingly, it is noted that they are all U.S. citizens, and a business address is provided in Exhibit E.

SMI's satellite earth stations are used in conjunction with SMI's television stations to facilitate broadcasts to the public.
